

NOVELLUS NAMES DR. FUSEN CHEN AS SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT OF ASIA-PACIFIC OPERATIONS

SAN JOSE, Calif., Oct. 25, 2004--Novellus Systems, Inc. (Nasdaq NM: NVLS), the productivity and technology leader in advanced deposition, surface preparation and chemical mechanical planarization processes for the global semiconductor industry, today announced the appointment of Dr. Fusen Chen (45) as senior vice president of Asia-Pacific Operations. Dr. Chen will oversee all of Novellus' offices in the region, including China, Japan, Korea, Taiwan and Southeast Asia. He will be responsible for driving all aspects of Novellus' operations in the region, including sales, marketing and customer support. Dr. Chen will focus on increasing Novellus' business through strategic customer engagements and by expanding Novellus' capabilities throughout the Asia-Pacific region.

Dr. Chen joins Novellus after 10 years at Applied Materials, where he most recently worked as the group vice president and general manager for the Copper Physical Vapor Deposition (PVD) & Interconnect Product Business Group. Prior to joining Applied, he worked at LSI Logic and SGS-Thomson Microelectronics.

Dr. Chen received his Bachelor of Science degree in Materials Science & Engineering from the National Tsing Hua University in Taiwan and his doctorate in Materials Science & Engineering from the State University of New York at Stony Brook. He holds more than 60 U.S. patents and has authored over 50 technical publications.

"The Asia-Pacific region represents over 70 percent of the market in our industry. Dr. Chen will be a major asset in strengthening our performance in this critical region," said Tom St. Dennis, Novellus' executive vice president of sales, worldwide service and marketing. "As a respected leader, with strong knowledge of the industry and the region, Dr. Chen will be a great complement to Novellus' existing team as we expand our operations in Asia and worldwide."
