Richard S. Hill, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer said, "I'm pleased to report another solid quarter of strong results in revenue, earnings and cash flow. In addition to the solid operational performance, we returned $200 million to shareholders through continued execution of our stock repurchase program during the first quarter. Our confidence in the long-term growth potential for the industry and Novellus in particular remains bullish despite recent near term global instabilities. Novellus is well positioned for long-term growth as we continue to strengthen our ability to support the increasing technical challenges of our customers." Hill added, "We remain focused on our strategic priorities as we believe the fundamental-long term drivers of our business remain intact. While the tsunami in Japan, unrest in the Middle East and global governmental financial stresses threaten the short-term, semiconductors continue to grow in their importance in improving quality of life throughout the world and therefore represent a growth opportunity for all of us involved within the industry."

Management uses non-GAAP measures to evaluate operating performance. The discussion of bookings and shipments and the discussion of gross profit, operating expenses, operating income (loss), income (loss) before taxes, provision for income taxes, effective tax rate, net income (loss), and net income (loss) per diluted share, each excluding certain charges and benefits are not in accordance with GAAP and may differ from non-GAAP methods of accounting and reporting used by other companies. We discuss these non-GAAP measures because we believe these metrics provide additional insight into underlying operating results and prospects for the future, allowing investors to assess certain business trends in the same way that these trends are utilized by management in its financial and operational decision making. Shipments consist of products shipped to customers, without regard to net sales adjustments such as deferrals associated with customer acceptance. Bookings consist of current period orders less current period cancellations and other adjustments. We do not report bookings for systems with delivery dates more than 12 months from the latest balance sheet date. Shipments and bookings are used to forecast and plan future operations. Non-GAAP numbers are merely a supplement to, and not a replacement for, GAAP financial measures.
